

Communiqué to Petticoat Research Bulletin Editorial Council

#bulletin #communiqué #memo

Hello everyone,

Welcome to the Editorial Council for the Petticoat Research Bulletin. The Bulletin is for the utopian-minded among us — concerned writers with social dreams. If you are passionate and knowledgeable about our world and the things in it, you find a home in our periodical.

As editors, you will work alongside each other (in coordination with the Editor-in-Chief Hobart Phillips) to produce materials that will be compiled into a publication known as the Petticoat Research Bulletin.

The underlying concern of this publication is the utopian dimensions of our lives. The theme of its first issue will be “looking good & feeling good.” Appropriate topics may include:

- Objectification and conceptualisation of people and the human form
- Products as they contribute to identity
- Human purpose and satisfaction
- What we owe to where we come from
- Fashion and gender politics
- Self-interrogation and neuroses of society
- Looking good
- Feeling good

Anecdotes and stories are okay, but this is not a blog — all writing must be in service of an idea. The aim of this periodical is to contribute to utopie concrete as a broad conceptual reimagining of the value of social dreaming, and to expand and complicate the existing utopian dimensions of Vekllel.

Thank you kindly for your interest, and I look forward to working alongside you.

Kind regards,

Hobart Phillips

Editor-in-Chief
